DETAILS:

On 05/09/06 at approximately 1100 hours, I was advised to contact Dr Dennis Stanford at the Perham Vet Clinic

I spoke with Dr Stanford and Dr Stanford indicated that he had treated a dog owned by

This dog was supposed to have been spayed from where they had purchased this animal at the Pick of the Litter Kennel. The animal was not properly spayed and required additional medical attention. The had been given antibiotics to treat their dog, which according to Dr Stanford is illegal. The mixture and labeling of the medicine was improper. He secured this information and medicine, along with a tissue sample from the animal, for a test and other screening that may be necessary to prove the illegal administration of the drugs. He stated he's collecting the evidence and securing them. He is the only one in chain of custody. He also felt that this type of treatment is endangering the animals and he felt that the dog owned by the was in serious danger and could possibly have died had the treatment gone on the way it was assigned.

He is also aware of a by MN who had an animal that was spayed at the Pick of the Litter Kennel The animal still comes into heat after the spading, which would indicate that it's an improper treatment and improperly done by incompetent people, according to Dr Stanford

Dr Stanford's concern is administrating veterinary treatment and administrating medicine and prescribing medicine without the proper licensing and training, thereby endangering other animals. He has also heard that the sister-in-law to had the same incident happen with their animal. The animal came into heat despite the fact that it was indicated to them that it had been spayed. There was also a report to him that there was an animal in which the area where an incision was, this incision would not heal and he felt that was again poor medical attention and poor sanitary conditions.

Dr Stanford is willing to proceed with this and testify if needed and establish a chain of custody of the evidence he has collected. I advised Dr. Stanford to hold the evidence pending further investigations by the Sheriff's Office. I contacted the Otter Tail County Humane Society and will contact the director for some further follow up.

This report is now complete Please forward a copy of this report to the Otter Tail County Humane Society
